TRIBUTES TO THE LATE BURTON H. SAXTON

In the passing of Burton Saxton the American Numismatic Association lost an able, sincere and devoted friend. He was a true gentleman of the old school, always courteous, always thoughtful. The best years of his life he devoted to maintaining a high standard of reliability and ethics in advertising in The Numismatist.

It was typical of Burton that, after illness sent him to a Los Angeles hospital, his primary concern was over a possible delay in the next issue of The Numismatist. To the limited number of friends who were permitted to visit his sick room Burton was gracious, even witty, and kept expressing his concern over his illness being an inconvenience to others.

Sleep peacefully Burton, you have richly earned your rest. — OSCAR DODSON, A.N.A. President

Many of those who desire to pay tribute to the memory of Burton Saxton have known him longer and more intimately than I. But one did not have to know him a long time to recognize that he was a fine gentleman, a sincere friend, a true numismatist, and a loyal and devoted officer of the American Numismatic Association. — GLENN B. SMEDLEY, A.N.A. First Vice President

Burton Saxton was one of the true "old timers" who commanded the respect and esteem of numismatists the country over. Highly regarded by all who knew him, I shall never forget the words of numismatic advice he gave me years ago. He was one of the deans of our hobby and his many friends are greatly saddened. The A.N.A. will miss Burton Saxton. — MATT H. ROTHERT, A.N.A. Second Vice President

THEODORE ROOSEVELT AND OUR COINAGE

By

ELSTON G. BRADFIELD, LM 266

This issue of The Numismatist is dedicated to the memory of Theodore Roosevelt on the centennial of his birth and contains several articles on the numismatic side of his life.

THEODORE Roosevelt was one of our Presidents who took a genuine interest in the coinage of the United States and one who took a direct hand in its mintage. He was responsible for changes in our gold coinage, gave the motto IN GOD WE TRUST the brushoff but was later forced by public opinion and Congress to restore it on our coins. It was during his administration, also, that the Lincoln cent was first considered.

Toward the end of his first term, President Roosevelt suggested to the famed sculptor, Augustus Saint-Gaudens, that he should not only take an interest in our coinage but stated specifically that he should undertake the redesigning of our gold pieces. With this Saint-Gaudens agreed.

In a letter of December 27, 1904 addressed to the Secretary of the Treasury, Leslie Mortier Shaw, the President stated emphatically "I think our coinage is artistically of atrocious hideousness." Another letter to the Secretary under date of January 16, 1905, instructed the Secretary to have the Director of the Mint, George E. Roberts, write at once to Saint-Gaudens and Francis Davis Millet, Massachusetts artist, concerning the new inaugural medal. He also said he did "not want there to be the slightest interference with Saint-Gaudens in connection with the coinage from its artistic side."

Roosevelt wrote Saint-Gaudens on November 14, 1905 that he was going to try to persuade the mint people to strike the new gold pieces and hinted that perhaps there was a medium ground between the high relief and low relief (Can we "raise figures by having rim but not raise figures as much as Greek?"). The President also stated he did not want to rouse protests from businessmen by having gold coins of such high relief that they would not stack properly. After all, they were the ones who used these coins the most.

When Saint-Gaudens presented models of a one cent piece, $10.00 and $20.00 gold pieces, he did run into interference. Roosevelt rejected the one cent piece, placed an Indian feather bonnet on Liberty's head instead of a wreath ("We are entitled to a typically American headdress for the lady") on the $10.00 piece. The Treasury Department shifted the lettering on the $20.00 coin and flattened the design.

Upon receipt of the double eagle models, however, the President could hardly contain himself. He wrote Saint-Gaudens December 20, 1906, that the coin was "simply immense," "simply splendid" and closed with the remark that "I suppose I'll be impeached for it in Congress, but I shall regard that as a very cheap payment."

Henry Hering, long time friend and assistant to Saint-Gaudens, had actually done most of the work on the new coinage under the direction of the ailing Saint-Gaudens. When the latter died on August 3, 1907, the gold coins had not yet been struck, but Hering finished the program.

The first striking of the new eagle and double eagle bore no IN GOD WE TRUST motto and brought the wrath of the righteous down on Theodore Roosevelt's head. The President fought back. Typical of his reply to critics was the letter he wrote the Reverend Roland C. Dryer, Nunda, N. Y. under date of toons and articles based on the phrase like "In God we trust for the other eight cents" or "In God we trust for the short weight" or "In God we trust for the thirty-seven

November 11, 1907. He wrote that there was "no warrant in law for the inscription" and that its "use is irreverent and approaches sacrilege." Everyone must remember, said Roosevelt, the innumerable car-cents we do not pay." Roosevelt remained firm in his stand on the issue but when Congress passed a bill in 1908 stating "the motto In God We Trust heretofore inscribed on certain denominations of the gold and silver coins of the United States of America, shall hereafter be inscribed upon all such gold and silver coins of said denominations as heretofore," he withdrew his objections and directed that the motto be placed on the coins.

Victor D. Brenner entered the national coinage picture because he was commissioned to make the Panama Canal service medal. He had designed a Lincoln plaque and when Theodore Roosevelt was posing for the Panama medal, the sculptor showed him the plaque. The subject of a Lincoln commemorative cent came up and Brenner said he would like to do this coin, basing the design on the plaque. President Roosevelt was favorable to the idea and used his influence to obtain the commission for Brenner.

This brief summary of Theodore Roosevelt and the 1907 series of gold eagles and double eagles, the hassle over the motto and the commemorative Lincoln cent merely touches the high spots. MEDALLIC MEMORIALS TO THEODORE ROOSEVELT

By

MELVIN AND GEORGE FULD

A paper submitted to the 1958 A.N.A. Convention

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

THE LIST of Theodore Roosevelt medals that follows was assembled through the kind coöperation of many organizations and individuals, without whose help this listing would have been impossible. The American Numismatic Society and its Curator of Medals, Henry Grunthal, kindly listed pieces in its collection along with many of the fine photographs of these interesting pieces.

We are deeply indebted to the Roosevelt Memorial Association, the Curator of the Roosevelt House at 28 E. Twentieth St., Miss Helen McLachlan, and the Curator of Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay, Long Island, Mrs. Harold Kraft, for allowing their collections of medals to be included in this listing. Richard Picker and Lester Merkin kindly journeyed to both of these museums in order to complete the listings of medals in their collections and for this we are deeply indebted.

Dr. Sarah Elizabeth Freeman, Curator of Numismatics at Johns Hopkins University, kindly supplied us with a list of medals in that collection. E. H. Davis, historian of the Scoville Manufacturing Company, Waterbury, Conn. kindly allowed us to include several interesting medals in the Scoville collection.

We are highly indebted to the following collectors who listed pieces in their fine collections and devoted much time and energy to making the listing complete, as well as allowing their coins to be photographed. V. Bruce Davis, J. Doyle DeWitt, Nathan N. Eglit, U. I. Harris, Charles McSorley, Robert S. Morgan, H. V. Olive, Max M. Schwartz, Arlie Slabaugh, J. B. Stack, and Ernest Weidhaas are the gentlemen who are really responsible for this list of Roosevelt medals.

Kenneth Bressett kindly photographed many of the pieces at the last minute so that we were able to make the publication deadline. Photographic help of the American Numismatic Society, Kenneth Rehder and Simeon Wilson is also gratefully acknowledged. As some prints of medals were slightly larger than actual size, the reader is urged to check sizes carefully. The correct sizes are given in the descriptions.

Elston G. Bradfield, Editor of The Numismatist, as usual, was of great assistance in coördinating the list, contacting collectors, obtaining photographs and editing the manuscript.

Finally, we are indebted to Mrs. George Fuld for her help in writing the historical background of Roosevelt.

The authors are completely responsible for any errors, omissions or misrepresentations in the listing. They will be sincerely indebted to anyone pointing out errors or noting new pieces.

Melvin Fuld, Baltimore, Md., and his son, Dr. George Fuld, Wakefield, Mass., are best known for their studies in American medallic and token history. Here they offer Theodore Roosevelt's medallic story on the occasion of his birth centennial.

RO.1901.I

THE MAN

No biography of any President of the United States could be short. Nevertheless, the life of Theodore Roosevelt was perhaps the most colorful and eventful of any President this country has ever had.

History has recorded him as a vigorous individualist. This he was in spite of early illness. It was through tenacious activity that he built himself up so that in 1909, at the age of 51, he was able to ride 100 miles on horseback to shame the army for its complaint against his order to keep physically fit.

Theodore Roosevelt was not a believer in moderation. He was such an extremist that after the campaign of 1900 when he was elected Vice President, one Republican backer is said to have commented that only one life was between this madman and the White House. Despite his extremism, however, his judgment was extraordinarily keen and perceptive.

The house where Roosevelt was born in New York City on October 27, 1858, is now a museum under the auspices of the Roosevelt Memorial Association. His father was a prominent New York merchant who devoted a great deal of time to civic and charitable affairs. In 1876 Roosevelt entered Harvard after years of private tutoring in the United States and Europe. He graduated Harvard Phi Beta Kappa and from there on his career is one of extraordinary talent combined with a vigorous desire to succeed.

He was elected to the New York Assembly at 23 and was one of the leading members of the Republican Party in New York state by 25. Never one to champion unions, nevertheless it was during this period that he realized the necessity for some practical reforms which were later to affect his White House policies. Because of the sudden deaths of his wife and mother he lived in the Dakotas for two years. Returning in 1886, Roosevelt ran unsuccessfully for mayor of New York City. Subsequently he was appointed a member of the U. S. Civil Service Commission advocating reforms in the last stages of the "spoils system." In 1895 he resigned from the commission to become president of the Police Board of New York City (RO.1919.1). Corruption was widespread and T. R. with characteristic vitality attempted to battle the entire graft system.

In 1896 after a vigorous campaign for McKinley he was rewarded with the post of Assistant Secretary of the Navy. The success of our fleets in the Spanish American War can be attributed in great measure to his efforts to promote efficiency and preparedness in the Navy. In the spring of 1898, when war with Spain became certain, he resigned his post and with the now almost legendary Rough Riders fought heroically in the Battle of San Juan Hill (RO.1948.1).

Never was a war so well-timed for political expediency. By the fall of the same year, just two weeks after being mustered out of the army, he was Republican candidate for governor of New York (RO.1898.1) and although a popular hero he won by only a narrow margin (RO.1899.1). During his two years as governor the professional politicians and many large corporations were given much cause to wonder if their choice, albeit a winning one, was a wise one.

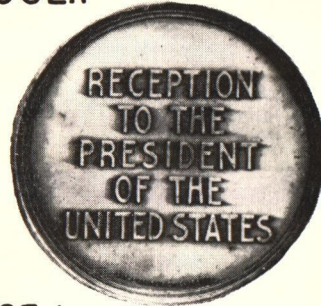

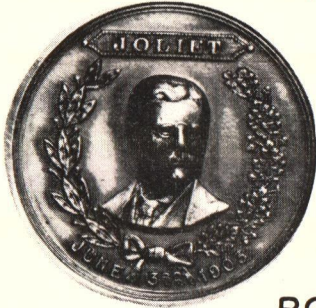

In 1900 in an effort to get rid of him, he was "kicked upstairs" being nominated Vice President (RO.1900.1-3). Fate again intervened for him in September, 1901 (RO.1901.1), and Theodore Roosevelt became the youngest President in American history because of the assassination of President McKinley. In 1904 running with Charles W. Fairbanks he was reelected by the largest majority ever afforded a President up to that time, defeating Alton B. Parker (see RO.1904 series).

Roosevelt's presidency is perhaps best characterized by the quote for which he had a fondness: "Speak softly and carry a big stick." He accomplished many things during his two terms in office, not the least of which was his effective trust-busting (c.f. RO.M.13), the construction of the Panama Canal (RO.1908.2), strengthening of the military forces and the maneuver of sending the fleet around the world (RO.1907.1).

Although Roosevelt vigorously supported William H. Taft in the 1908 elections (RO.M.10), he afterward became dissatisfied with the administration and actively sought reelection for himself in 1912. The Republican party split between him and Taft, and while he ran on the Progressive ticket, Wilson went into the White House. It was during this campaign that he made the famous statement, "My hat is in the ring" (RO.1912.2,3).

In 1909 he made a 10 months safari to Africa and on his return made a triumphal tour through Europe (RO.1910:3). Upon reaching New York on June 18, 1910, he received a tumultuous welcome (RO.1910.4). The hunting trip itself was commemorated on several medals (RO.1910.2,5,6).

Having been defeated in the 1912 election, he retired from active politics and after a trip to the Amazon where he was taken seriously ill, he spent his remaining years at his home in Long Island, Sagamore Hill, now a national shrine (RO.M.9). After several recurring illnesses, he died there January 6, 1919.

"It can be said of Washington that he founded the American Nation and of Lincoln that he preserved it; it can be said of Roosevelt that he revitalized it . . . A man who can do so much could not do everything perfectly, but few have ever done so many things so well."

THE MEDALS

This list of Roosevelt medals is the first list of its kind to be attempted and undoubtedly is quite incomplete. However, considering the first medal struck in Theodore Roosevelt's honor was in 1898, the series is not without interest. Many fine contemporary medallists are represented by beautiful examples of the medallic art in this series. Among them are Barber and Morgan, engravers of the United States Mint at the turn of the century, Davidson, Brenner, Fraser and Hyatt.

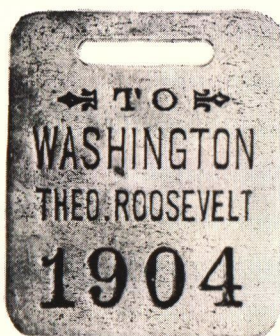

There were innumerable political tokens, badges, watch fobs, etc. issued during the three campaigns of Roosevelt in 1900, 1904, and 1912. Only the metallic items are included in this list. There are, however, hundreds of beautiful, multicolored celluloid buttons issued during these campaigns, and a few of the more representative pieces, unfortunately reproduced in black and white only, are shown on Plates 20, 21 and 22.

A number of medals that were presented to Roosevelt are in the fine collections of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, such as the Nobel peace medal of 1906, that are not included since they are presentation pieces without Roosevelt's portrait. Whenever pieces of this nature, with Roosevelt's portrait were noted, they were included in this listing.

The largest number of these medals are in the collections of the American Numismatic Society (about 30 medals) and J. Doyle DeWitt (about 30 medals). U. I. Harris and R. S. Morgan own fine political collections with many metallic pieces as well as numerous examples of the interesting celluloid buttons, through whose courtesy the plates of buttons are shown.

The listing is made on a chronological basis as was done recently with the Lafayette series (The Numismatist, September, 1957). Where the date of issue is reasonably certain, the piece is listed in the category RO.1898.1, RO.1899.1, etc. Where a number of pieces are shown for any one year, they are arranged in decreasing order of size using the American system of sixteenths of an inch. The undated medals are arranged under the heading of RO.M. starting with Number one in order of decreasing size. The pieces that are clearly uniface medallions are likewise arranged in order of decreasing size starting with Number one under the heading RO.ME. The pieces are illustrated in order where possible on the full page plates, with the location of the plate given under each description.

Whenever listings were available, such as in The Numismatist, the American Journal of Numismatics, the Numismatic Review, the Zabriskie sale of Chapman or the 1952 A.N.A. auction in New York City, these are noted following the listing of the medal.

Wherever the location of the medals listed is known, this is given immediately following the listing of the metals. The following abbreviations are used: American Numismatic Society (ANS), Roosevelt House Museum in New York (TR-NY), Sagamore Hill Museum (S.H.), and Johns Hopkins University (JHU). The location in private collections is denoted by surnames.

It is frequently said, and not without justification, that the Saint-Gaudens double eagle is the most beautiful coin ever struck by the United States. When issued, however, there were other thoughts on it and the eagle, as witness excerpts from an editorial in the February, 1908 Bookman, Century Co., N.Y.C., pp. 575-6:

" . . . As for the ten-dollar gold pieces, they are themselves a blasphemy against numismatic art. Mr. St. Gaudens was a very great sculptor, but it did not therefore follow that he would succeed in making a beautiful design for a piece of money. He failed to realize that figures upon coins are not to be drawn from living models, but . . . ought to be conventional types. So he drew from his Hibernian waitress the startled Indian on the obverse, and probably got his eagle on the reverse from an actual eagle in the Zoo. Hence the waitress comes out apparently with her hair standing on end with horror, and shrinking away into the northeast corner of the coin, leaving a large empty space toward the southwest corner, in which there is nothing to balance the meteoric maiden . . .

The trousers on the Roosevelt eagle are certainly very much in evidence. But a sagacious observer . . . in a letter to the Evening Post of this city, has pointed out the fact that this eagle has feathers on the outside of its left leg and only on the inside of its right leg; so that, after all, the bird is pathetically half-clothed as to its limbs. As the President has personally supervised the coinage on this piece, he cannot shirk the responsibility.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT AND NUMISMATICS

By

NATHAN N. EGLIT, A.N.A. No. 11713

IN 1901, when President McKinley was assassinated at the Pan American Exposition in Buffalo, Theodore Roosevelt, the vice president, was catapulted into the Presidency. He became the fifth of our "accidental" presidents, the youngest ever to hold that high office and the twenty-sixth president of the Republic.

Roosevelt's achievements were many. He loved books and probably was one of the best read presidents. He was a writer of books, some of which are considered authoritative. He was also a man of action, having been a cowboy, a hero in the Spanish-American War, where he led the Rough Riders at the Battle of San Juan Hill, and a big game hunter. He had been an assemblyman in the New York legislature, civil service commissioner under President Harrison, police commissioner in New York in 1895, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy under McKinley in 1896. After his service in the Spanish-American War, he returned to New York where he was elected governor. Since he could not be controlled by the political leaders in that state, as he was too progressive and full of a reform spirit, they undertook to get rid of him through a deal to make him the vice presidential candidate in 1900. Roosevelt first refused, since the vice presidency was then considered a political dead end. However, the delegates at the Republican convention gave him so great an ovation when he made the speech seconding McKinley's nomination for president that he could not gracefully refuse. The election of 1900 saw Bryan appear again as the Democratic nominee, and, as in 1896, he again campaigned on the "free silver" issue. He also attacked the Republicans on foreign policy, under which he hurled the charge of imperialism at them, and attacked their coddling of the large trusts, as well as their high tariff policy which protected large business interests.

McKinley, as the incumbent President, did not campaign, but Roosevelt stumped the country and roused it to an enthusiastic pitch. The Republican ticket triumphed with over a million plurality, and with this campaign the issue of bimetallism and free silver and greenbacks became dead political issues never to be revived again. Gold became established then as the standard of our monetary system, the death of this political football being formalized by the Gold Standard Act of 1900.

After Roosevelt succeeded to the Presidency, he followed McKinley's policies at first, but within a year things began to happen. Things always happened when Theodore Roosevelt was in the driver's seat. His "trust busting" views became a reality when his attorney general, Philander C. Knox, filed the first of such suits against the Northern Securities Co. In the ensuing years more were to come. To win the support of the people on this program, Roosevelt stumped the east and the west telling them that "the biggest corporation, like the humblest private citizen, must be held to strict compliance with the will of the people." He went on to attack the rich and powerful and gained the largest following of any President, especially among the lower economic classes, since the days of Andrew Jackson.

His next moves were in the field of foreign relations. The acquisition of Puerto Rico, Guam and the Philippines from Spain under the Treaty of Paris of 1898, and the cession of Hawaiian sovereignty which had raised the American flag in Honolulu on August 12, 1898, had made the United States a world power. These interests required a navy that could move quickly to protect the national interests in the Atlantic as well as in the Pacific waters. The necessity of an isthmian canal made it imperative to complete a treaty with Colombia for the digging of a channel through the Panamanian isthmus, which Colombia refused to do. Coincidentally, as a result of the failure of these negotiations, a revolt occurred, and Panama proclaimed its independence in 1902. Roosevelt hurried to recognize this new republic and signed a treaty with its representative for the construction of the Panama Canal. The first shovel of earth was turned in 1904 and the canal was completed and opened to traffic in 1914.

In other foreign matters, Roosevelt adopted an African proverb as a maxim for his policies by "Speaking softly and carrying a big stick." He intervened when Britain, Italy and Germany sent warships to Venezuela to blockade the coast to enforce payments of its debts. He intervened when such methods were used to threaten toward Santo Domingo. He made clear that the Monroe Doctrine was still a policy of the United States. During his first administration, military forces of the United States were withdrawn from Cuba and Cuban independence assured with the signing of a treaty between the two countries in May, 1903.

The Philippine Government Act was passed on July 1, 1902, making the Philippines a territory, and its inhabitants citizens of the United States. William Howard Taft was appointed its first governor. In 1903, the first Philippine coinage was issued, the only instance in American history of the issuance of money in a foreign standard of value. This money appeared under authority and legends of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA with the U. S. shield as part of the design, but in the Spanish denominations of the peso and centavo. This in itself makes Philippine coinage and paper money unique in American numismatic history.

In his second term, Roosevelt extended the foreign influence of the United States by intervening in the Russo-Japanese War, and brought about the peace conference at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, in Portsmouth, N. H., in August, 1905. For his work as mediator in this war, Roosevelt received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1906. Then Roosevelt mediated between France and Germany in 1906 at the Algeiras Conference, which avoided a clash between those countries over North African interests.

A numismatic reminder of this era of our expansion issued during Roosevelt's presidency is a medal struck by the mint commemorating the Departure of the American Fleet in its trip around the world from 1907 to 1909. This voyage was ostensibly meant for a training cruise, as well as a peaceful visit to countries whose shores it would touch, but it actually was a demonstration to the world of American sea power.

In the election of 1904, Roosevelt was nominated as the Republican candidate for President, with Charles W. Fairbanks, senator from Indiana, as his running mate. Alton B. Parker was the Democratic candidate, and Henry G. Davis, an 81-year-old millionaire, was the vice presidential candidate. Eugene V. Debs was the Socialist candidate and Silas C. Swallow was the Prohibitionist candidate. Among the other third party candidates were Charles H. Corrigan, Socialist Labor; Thomas E. Watson, Populist; George E. Taylor, National Liberal (colored); and Austin H. Holcomb, Continental Labor.

The election was a great popular victory for Roosevelt as he won by a 2,500,000 majority. Commenting on his victory, Roosevelt exclaimed, "I am no longer a political accident." On the same day he rashly issued a statement that "The wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination." Later, in regretting this statement, he commented that he would cut off his wrist if he could have recalled that statement. However, he remained true to his word in the Republican convention of 1908 when he refused to be considered and chose William Howard Taft as his choice and Taft was nominated. At that time there were other prominent candidates for the nomination such as Elihu Root, Roosevelt's secretary of state, Judge Charles Hughes, Philander C. Knox, his attorney general, Robert La Follette, senator from Wisconsin, and others, as well as William Randolph Hearst, the Independent Leaguer and publisher who was fishing for an offer from either party. The Democrats chose William Jennings Bryan for the third time as their standard bearer, with John W. Kern of Indiana as his running mate. Eugene V. Debs, Socialist, was again a candidate; Eugene W. Chafin was the Prohibitionist candidate; August Gibbons, Socialist Labor; Thomas E. Watson, of the moribund Populists, Middle Road; Thomas L. Hisgen, Independent, and W. R. Benkert, United Christian.

The 1908 campaign was comparatively unexciting, as the political issues were not very great. The issues that Bryan had formerly thundered at the Republicans were dead. Gone was the silver issue. The trust busting policies of Roosevelt had taken the teeth out of the charges that Bryan had hurled at them in 1900, while the issue of imperialism had gone stale. Taft received more votes than Roosevelt had in 1904, while the Democrats gained over 1,000,000 votes over the vote of 1904.

Thinking Taft would carry on his progressive policies, Roosevelt set out on a game hunting trip to Africa. While he was away, Taft gradually drifted away from many of Roosevelt's ideas, did not push legislation for reforms, and allowed his party leadership to fall back into the laps of the Eastern moneyed interests and abnegated the Presidential powers that Roosevelt had developed to Congress.

When Roosevelt returned from his African safari, he immediately began to attack the administration. Progressive Republicans, under the leadership of La Follette of Wisconsin, Beveridge of Indiana and Johnson of California were antagonized by Taft's defense of "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, Speaker of the House. The high tariff Payne-Aldrich bill, and the removal of Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester of the Interior Department, had brought about an insurgent group by the time Roosevelt returned. This insurgency came to a head in the Republican convention of 1912 when Roosevelt, who wanted the candidacy, was ignored and Taft renominated. As a result, the Progressives left the convention, held their own and organized the National Progressive Party. They nominated Roosevelt for President and Hiram Johnson for Vice President. When Roosevelt's health was in question as an element of his availability, he had asserted "I'm as strong as a bull moose." Thus the bull moose was adopted as the symbol of the Progressives, and the party buttons and political literature featured the head of this animal. By common usage this third party of 1912 is referred to as the "Bull Moose" Party. Because of this split in the Republican vote, Woodrow Wilson and Thomas R. Marshall, his running mate, won for the Democratic Party its first Presidency since the Cleveland administration of 1892 to 1896. Roosevelt polled 4,119,507 votes to Taft's 3,484,956 votes; while Wilson won with 6,293,019 votes.

In reviewing the Era of the First Roosevelt from 1901 to 1912, many events both foreign and domestic occurred which place it as an important turning point in American history, and to Theodore Roosevelt may be assigned many of the changes that took place. In 1902 Roosevelt turned against the plutocratic powers and supported the miners in the coal strike of that year, forcing the employers to arbitrate, a reversal of the previous Presidential interventions in labor controversy. This, of course, won labor over to Roosevelt, and thereafter Gompers and Mitchell, labor leaders of the day, were close to him.

In social and political reforms, the Department of Commerce and Labor was established. In 1906 the Hepburn Act was passed at Roosevelt's demand which regulated the railroads and increased the authority and membership of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Pure Food and Drug Act and Meat Inspection Act were passed. A national program for the conservation of resources was instituted. As a result of the Panic of 1907 the Aldrich Vreeland Act was passed in that year establishing more elasticity in the currency. One of the provisions of this act established the National Monetary Commission, which after an extended investigation, gave its report to Congress in 1912, from which resulted the Federal Reserve Act of 1913.

Amongst his other achievements, which resulted in the United States becoming a power internationally, was his modernization of the navy, the increased efficiency of the army command by the establishment of the chief of staff and the laying of the foundation for our future air force by the purchase of the first airplane from the Wright brothers, while the navy's first modern submarine, the U. S. S. Holland, was put in service in 1902.

Numismatics of the Roosevelt Era

Numismatically, the events above mentioned are represented by the Departure of the Fleet Medal previously mentioned, while the Wright brothers and the airplane are commemorated by a mint medal. This period was very rich in numismatic representations of other historic events of the era. The Pan-American Exposition Medal of 1901, not only signifies our new hemispheric outlook and our friendship for our Latin neighbors, but is also a reminder of McKinley's assassination. In 1903 and 1904, the Louisiana Purchase Exposition took place in St. Louis, and official medals, as well as many private issues of medals and tokens were emitted to commemorate the centenary of the acquisition of the great territory west of the Mississippi by Jefferson. The first gold commemorative dollars issued by the U. S. appeared in 1903, one with the head of Jefferson and another with the head of McKinley.

In 1904 and 1905 the Lewis and Clark Exposition was held in Portland and official medals, as well as private medals, tokens and souvenirs appeared. Gold commemorative dollars were issued for these years with Lewis on one side and Clark on the other. In the same year the centennial of the Southwest Expedition under Pike was observed in Denver and a medal issued for that event.

In 1907 a medal was issued for the Jamestown Tercentenary; in 1904 medals were issued in connection with the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, the Henry Hudson Centennial, and the Robert Fulton dollar celebrating the centenary of the first steamship, the Clermont. The latter two pieces were privately issued by the famous numismatist and dealer, Thomas L. Elder. In 1915, the Panama-California Exposition was held in San Diego celebrating the opening of the Panama Canal on August 15, 1914, and a medal was struck under Bureau of the Mint auspices to commemorate the occasion.

In the same year the Panama-Pacific Exposition was held in San Francisco, and an official medal, as well as individual state fund dollars were struck commemorating this occasion. A commemorative 50¢ piece was issued by the San Francisco Mint on which for the first time the motto, IN GOD WE TRUST, appears on a commemorative coin. At the same time four gold coins were issued by U. S. mint to commemorate this historic occasion. These consisted of the $1.00 and $2.50. The other two represented the first officially struck $50.00 gold pieces ever issued by the United States, one piece being round and the other octagonal. These pieces are in the rarity class and bring high prices as only 483 were struck of the round and 645 of the octagonal. The only other instance in which a $50.00 gold piece was struck was in 1877 when a pattern of that denomination was made in two designs. There was only one coin struck of each design. These coins never got beyond the experimental stage so that, though of official origin, they cannot be classified as officially issued coins.

Theodore Roosevelt took a deep personal interest in our coinage, the first President to do so since Washington. In his desire to beautify our coinage to compare with the classic beauty of the ancient Greek designs, he consulted the famous sculptor, Augustus Saint-Gaudens and as a result broke a precedent when he engaged him to design new $20.00 and $10.00 gold pieces. The rule up to then had been for the regularly employed designers at the Philadelphia Mint to do this work. The President personally chose the Standing Liberty design for the $20.00 piece and the head of Liberty covered with an Indian war bonnet for the $10.00 piece from those submitted to him. Both these coins were first issued in 1907 without the motto IN GOD WE TRUST, as Roosevelt considered it blasphemous to place the name of God on a coin.

But a public furor protesting this omission caused it to be placed on the coins in 1908, after a considerable issue of the coins of that year without the motto. So there are two designs for 1908, one without motto and one with motto. These circumstances also applied to the $10.00 gold piece. On the reverses of these coins the American eagle appears as the central design. On the $10.00 piece the eagle is standing, facing the left, while on the $20.00 piece is in flight to the left. The $20.00 piece, in the opinion of many collectors, is the most beautiful coin in the entire American series.

The $2.50 and $5.00 gold pieces which appeared in 1908 designed by Bela Lyon Pratt were also issues influenced by Roosevelt's desire for new coinage designs. These coins also set a precedent in U. S. coinage as the design is not raised but incused below the surface of the coin. They have no raised milling. The central design is an Indian head on obverse and a standing eagle on reverse.

Still another coin in which Roosevelt made his personal influence felt was the Lincoln cent of 1909, designed by Victor D. Brenner.

Theodore Roosevelt Medals (Official)

1. Presidential Medal issued by U. S.
2. Inauguration Medal issued by Inaugural Committee, March 4, 1905
3. United States Mint Assay Medals

Assay medals were issued to members of the Assay Commission who are appointed annually by the President to pass upon the U. S. coinage of issue for the year in which they are appointed. Only about 25 are issued each year and rarely sold, therefore, they are hard to obtain. In 1903 to 1907, inclusive, these medals were issued in tablet, or plaque form, in silver, 39 x 56 mm. On the reverse of the 1903 was a scene of the smelting room. On the others the arms of the Treasury Department appears, the main difference being in the date.

Aftermath

The defeat it suffered at the polls in 1912 did not entirely destroy the Progressive party as it met again in convention in Chicago in 1916. The Republican convention was held at the same time, in the same city. The Progressives expected and wanted Roosevelt to be their candidate again, but he held off, remaining at his home in Long Island and keeping contact by long distance telephone. Roosevelt preferred not to run, but made it known that if he were nominated by the Republicans he would then be a candidate so as to accomplish two things, to stop the nomination of Hughes, the known favorite, and to bring the Progressives back into the Republican ranks. He did not, however, wish to be a candidate of a third party again and split the vote, as in 1912.

Committees of both parties met and tried to work out a deal but the Republican convention refused to do business, and Hughes was nominated. Roosevelt refused to run on the third party ticket, and some critics have stated that by so doing he destroyed the Progressive movement. Many of his former supporters went back to the Republican party, but a great number switched over to the Democratic party. Thereafter, he slowly faded out of the national scene. He died unexpectedly in 1919.

THE LOS ANGELES STORY

By

JEAN BRADFIELD, A.N.A. No. 22233

LIVING up to the claims of its chamber of commerce, Los Angeles welcomed the American Numismatic Association's sixty-seventh annual convention with blue skies and a minimum of smog. The A.N.A. in turn brought rain to Los Angeles. People came from near and far to attend and feast on the beauties of the glamour state which affords the vacationer everything from desert to seashore and mountains, from warm to cool climate in a matter of a couple of hours. Registrants totaled 1035, with the bulk from California; there were, however, A.N.A. members from England, the Philippines, Canada, Mexico and 35 states of the Union.

The Hotel Statler decor made a delightful setting for convention activities with its patio and swimming pool, lovely lobby, variety of cocktail lounges and restaurants. The atmosphere was at all times gay and casual.

A pre-convention reception for A.N.A. officers and wives, and distinguished guests given by Admiral and Mrs. Oscar Dodson started the proverbial ball rolling. Among those present was one of A.N.A.'s earliest members, Past President George Bauer, looking as chipper and gallant as ever, anticipating his eighty-eighth birthday September 15.

Wednesday morning the registration desk hummed with action. Ladies scurried around obtaining tickets for the various planned activities. The New York room was open early for the women and many an acquaintance was renewed over a cup of coffee. Raffle tickets were sold in the hospitality room for some really beautiful hand-made prizes. Lucky ones won handbags, earrings, neckties and, most unusual, a decorative bird cage.

Three busloads of eager tourists scanned the sights as we wheeled along famed Wilshire Boulevard, past the Ambassador Hotel, Cocoa-nut Grove, and that unusual little restaurant shaped like a derby hat—and so named. We saw the "Miracle Mile" known for its fine shops and finally reached our destination, the Farmer's Market. Although a famous tourist attraction, this market also serves a most necessary and functional need for residents of the area. It is almost impossible to imagine the variety of merchandise that can be purchased there. Everything from souvenirs to the finest groceries, vegetables, meats, pastries, clothing, jewelry—even pets (we saw several adorable puppies on display).

Comparing purchases and discussing our luncheon menus, we boarded the buses for the next stop. Passing the CBS television studios, we continued along Sunset Strip, an area of renowned restaurants, to Beverly Hills to see the homes of the movie stars. We came to a stop at Saint Sophia, Greek Orthodox cathedral, one of the most awe-inspiring edifices imaginable.

The founder of the cathedral, Charles P. Skouras, and the artist William Chavalas working together saw their dream completed at a cost of eight and a half million dollars. The exterior is striking in its simplicity setting off the main entrance in a most spectacular design. The interior is lavish and ornate beyond imagination, yet there is not a design, painting, window or portal without its own significance. A variety of marbles from all parts of the world were selected for color with a specific interior layout in mind. The 17 crystal chandeliers which light the basilica are of original design and were imported from Czechoslovakia. When lighted, they cast a spell on those fortunate enough to witness the sight. The entire interior seems to come to life, the gold leaf on the altar screen assumes a water-gilt effect which evokes "oohs" and "ahhs." One does not have time enough to absorb all the beauties of the art forms employed here.

The next day the bus was loaded for Disneyland, an anxious father couldn't find his son, everyone seemed to be talking at once — and we were on our way. About 10 blocks from the hotel, two happy people joined us. Jay Baldwin of Concordia, Kans., had been found!

It is hard to say who enjoyed Disneyland the most, adults or children; perhaps each had a different type of appreciation for this fantastic bit of other worldliness, designed so perfectly that anyone from nine to 90 could enjoy the visit.

A trip around the perimeter of Disneyland via miniature railroad gave a bird's-eye view of the main attractions. A horse and buggy, horse-drawn streetcar or doubledeck bus from the entrance deposited us in the heart of this land of make believe. It is a short walk to Fantasyland, through the Sleeping Beauty Castle, with starry-eyed children and nostalgic adults everywhere. Frontierland River cruises or a ride on a raft to Mark Twain's Island were the delight of all children and the consternation of lost parents! Lunch at the Golden Horseshoe was a pleasant interlude (if your timing is right you'll catch one of the best stage shows you've seen for awhile). We took a stage-coach ride across Rainbow Desert, but before leaving we saw crowds and heard music—it was the Disneyland band marching by smartly in their red coats and with polished horns and sparkling drums.

And then we took an explorer's boat through the maze of jungle—every bend in the river affording a thrill of Indians, wild animals, water falls, water buffalo, hippos and crocodiles, some having to be shot by our intrepid pilot lest they attack us! From nowhere a huge boa constrictor lashed out from a low-hanging tree limb and just missed its victim. Exhausted from their narrow escapes but thrilled to the core, children and adults disembarked safely and unharmed.

Catching a horsecart back to Fantasyland, we dreamed through the wonderland made famous by Alice. Then up to the sky-ride which really gave an over-all panorama of this fabulous community. Here one saw Dumbo the Flying Elephant, Autopia Freeway, Cups and Saucers and other amusing rides and suddenly you found yourself in Tomorrowland.

After this busy and fun-filled day, a large group met at NBC television studios to witness the "Truth or Consequences" program starring Bob Barker. One of our numismatic young men was a participant in the show but we were unable to learn his name. His penalty was to don a tight girdle and loose bra in less than 30 seconds. Being a well-padded youth lacking years of rehearsal at getting into tight spots, he was, to say the least, "very actively busy."

Meanwhile, those who took the trip to the famed Huntington Library and Art Gallery saw a treasure house of rare books, manuscripts and famed paintings. Among the rarities are a manuscript copy of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, written about 1400 A.D.; an original Gutenberg Bible of about 1455; the manuscript of Franklin's autobiography. Gainsborough's Blue Boy, Sir Joshua Reynolds's Mrs. Siddons as the Tragic Muse and Thomas Lawrence's Pinkie are among the paintings by British masters.

The trip to Olvera Street proved most interesting and left one with a feeling that this modern city did have roots and a link with the past. It seems, I was told, that the old plaza was the seat of activity in the Los Angeles of 1781. Mission church, cobblestone streets, shops and restaurants and the oldest adobe house called "Avila House" lent color to the stories of early Spanish rule. Since Chinatown was not far away, many visiting numismatists took advantage of the opportunity to visit and eat in its restaurants.

The educational program Thursday evening was under the direction of Chairman Don Sherer and Master of Ceremonies Herbert M. Bergen. The first speaker was Ralph A. Mitchell (nicknamed "Curly") who discussed "So-Called Dollars" in an interesting fashion and the second was Vincent G. Greene, President of the Canadian Numismatic Association. His subject was "Canadian Coinage," a very apt survey for an increasing number of Americans who are turning to this series. A. Kosoff delivered one of his well-known "Money Talks" to the rapt attention of his audience. The final quarter of the program was "Twenty Questions," an educational quiz moderated by Bergen, who handled his assignment as Quizmaster in a smooth and humorous manner. His panel of experts were Col. James Curtis, John Pittman and Richard Yeoman, each of whom fielded the questions and clues deftly and came up with the right answers most of the time.

Midst the hilarity of the convention, many anxious hours were spent by a small group of friends of Burton Saxton, Advertising Manager of The Numismatist, following his heart attack Thursday evening. After the physician and nurse left him about midnight, two close friends kept the vigil through the rest of the night. Next morning, Burton was taken to Cedars of Lebanon hospital, his main concern being the publication of the Association's magazine on time. He was scheduled to receive the Association's highest award, the Farran Zerbe plaque, at Friday morning's business session. (The death of this grand and gracious gentleman, admired and loved by so many, occurred a month later following a second heart attack.)

The Club Representatives' session was held immediately after Friday's business meeting with Second Vice President Matt Rothert presiding. Many questions concerning the clubs were asked and many answered. New ideas were discussed which will be useful to the clubs whose representatives attended the meeting.

Luncheon at the Beverly Hilton Hotel was delightfully planned, the menu was continental in every aspect and the food deliciously prepared. The style show with its extremely casual lounge clothes stopped the waiters in mid-exit and made it difficult for them to concentrate on their chores. Pants made of elasticized cloth demanded shapely limbs. Evening wear was lovely, from form fitting lines to bat wing backs and harem skirts. Day clothes were in exquisite colors and smartly styled boxed lines. Helft's fashion coordinator commented on the styles and invited the ladies to visit Helft's shops.

Focal points for most numismatists were the bourse of 86 dealers and the traditional auction. There were few complaints from dealers as to business, which we assume was good. A. Kosoff's auction offered a variety of numismatic items but perhaps the most widely publicized lot was the controversial 1943

"copper cent." This coin has been built up for a couple of years through thousands of words of publicity. Its sudden withdrawal from the sale a few minutes before its scheduled appearance on the block, therefore, was a disappointment to the crowd and has precipitated much speculation as to the real story. We may know, sometime.

If you didn't put in a little time with the exhibits, you missed a treat. All classes of numismatic items were well represented and showed that many hours of planning and judicious use of imagination had been focused on these displays. Several noncompetitive exhibits by the A.N.S., A.N.A., several dealers and coin clubs, as well as non-numismatic organizations were on view. One of the latter, the Newport Balboa Savings and Loan Association, had a specially constructed display case which weighed 1200 pounds. Its features included a motor driven, attention catching center section that revolved slowly. Four earphones are at each corner to bring the tape recorded voices of experts telling the story of the coins displayed to the listener. A tiny light indicates the area of the display being discussed. For large groups (as at this convention), the volume can be turned up and the use of the earphones eliminated.

President Richard Goodson of the Los Angeles Coin Club and General Chairman Earl Glen Whitehead were hosts at a cocktail party before the banquet where many visitors had the pleasure of meeting local club members. Groups also gathered in the Sierra Room where a bar had been set up and drinks could be purchased.

Nearly 500 hungry numismatists filed into the banquet hall for the finale of a grand convention. After a festive dinner, a few short speeches from the head table, the presentation of a newly created A. N. A. Good Fellowship award to General Chairman Whitehead and the A. N. A. and American. Finally, in a total state of stuttering perturbation and utter embarrassment and the chagrin of his sponsors, he left the rostrum. He returned a few minutes later, however, minus mustache and assumed the roles of "Mr. Wimple" and other well known radio characters he had created on the Fibber McGee and Molly show and others. His real name? W. H. Thompson.

Other entertainment of high order followed. The dry wit of Master of Ceremonies Ben Wrigley introduced the Colonial Coins and Capers Review. Señor Frakson, an excellent magician and ventriloquist, earned his applause. Jose Gallegos sang well-loved Mexican and Spanish songs, responding with several encores. Ralph and Lorraine were exceptionally good dramatic dancers. And the famous Mulcahys, harmonists, drew several enthusiastic rounds of applause from a happy house.

Portland, the City of Roses, sent 1200 beautiful flowers which were distributed on each banquet table. Thank you, Portland - we'll see you next year.

All visitors to the sixty-seventh annual convention of the American Numismatic Association tilt the head and tip the hat to the California teams which worked so long and so earnestly to bring about such a thoroughly enjoyable gathering. We hesitate to extend our thanks to some individual workers whose names are known to us, for we know there are countless anonymous Los Angelenos whose efforts "put the show on the road." To all who played a part, therefore, we offer our sincere and warm appreciation for the pleasant memories we have taken back to our homes.

President Dodson to Address Evansville Meeting

A.N.A. President Oscar H. Dodson will address the Evansville Coin Club's first annual banquet, exhibit and auction at the Vendome Hotel, December 6 and 7. For more details check the Club News section of this issue.

Meet Our New Advertising Manager

S. W. Freeman, 52, of Newport, Ark. has been appointed Advertising Manager of The Numismatist following the recent death of Burton H. Saxton, who was Advertising Manager for the last 15 years. Born in Richmond, Va., Freeman was educated in the public schools, Augusta Military Academy and the University of Virginia. Following 15 years in advertising on newspapers and periodicals, he entered the office supply and equipment business in Newport. He is also the authorized agent of Underwood products in the north-eastern part of Arkansas. In 1935 he married Lucy Wilmans. They have two sons, Charles, 17, and Sam, 11.

Freeman's interest in coins began about 1918, when he became A.N.A. member No. 3846; he received the A.N.A.'s 25-year membership medal at the Chicago convention. He belongs to a number of numismatic organizations, including the Arkansas Numismatic Society of which he is past president. His numismatic specialties are U.S. half cents, one cent and two cent pieces. An amateur archeologist, Freeman also collects American Indian artifacts.

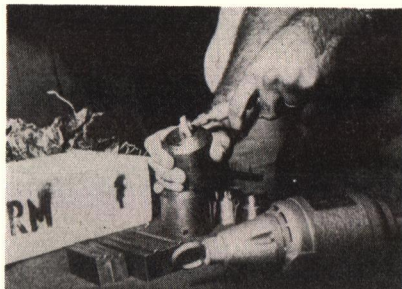

Louis Werner Moves to New Office

Louis S. Werner announces his numismatic business will now be conducted from Suite 514, 1270 Broadway, New York 1, N.Y. A portion of the space, set aside to promote numismatics, is called "The Numismatic Showcase," where Werner will display, from time to time, interesting numismatic pieces, documents, pictures and especially items pertaining to the American Numismatic Association.

Destruction of Dies of Israel's Commemorative Issue

This photograph, from the Bank of Israel in Jerusalem, shows the destruction of the dies from which the first commemorative coin of Israel had been struck by the royal mint in the Netherlands. The total quantity of this tenth anniversary coin minted was 100,000 plus 2,000 proofs. The Numismatic Division of the Israel Philatelic Agency in America, Inc., exclusive distributors of these coins, advises that only limited quantities are left on hand.

Canadian Auction Results

Many all time high prices were recorded for choice and rare Canadian and Newfoundland coins and notes in the recent Canadian Numismatic Association convention auction conducted by J. E. Charlton. The sum of $3,000 was paid for a Canadian 1921 unc. 50¢ piece and it changed hands the following day at $3,100. This is the highest price on record for a coin issued by the government of Canada. Other features in Canadian coins were:

A.N.A. Committee Appointments

President Oscar H. Dodson has appointed the following to the Heath Literary Awards Committee for 1958: Past President Leonel C. Panosh, chairman, and Elston G. Bradfield, Dr. J. H. Litman and Leo G. Terry.

For National Coin Week, April 12-18, 1959, Mrs. Wilma Dean Rothke of Saginaw, Mich., has been named general chairman. The Awards Committee will be composed of the members of the Saginaw Valley Coin Club.

The Visual Education Committee appointed include John J. Pittman as chairman, Dr. John F. Lhotka, Jr. and Jack Koch. Others will be named later.

Organizational Changes in South Australia

At the thirty-second annual meeting of the Numismatic Society of South Australia, held September 18, the name of the official organ was changed to Australian Numismatic Journal, incorporating the South Australian Numismatic Journal. After several years as Honorary Secretary, J. Hunt Deacon, FRNS (now president of the Numismatic Society of South Australia) has retired and his place has been taken by R. M. Greig, 2 Sallis Ave., Tranmere, S. A. The Australian Numismatic Journal will continue to be distributed free to members of the Society. Particulars may be obtained from the Honorary Secretary.

Cent Planchet?

Jim Zuchowski, paying teller of the American National Bank, St. Joseph, Mo., recently was astonished to see a bronze nickel roll out of a "fresh" supply direct from the Kansas City Federal Reserve Bank.

It is a beautiful, well-struck 1957 Jefferson nickel, which appears to be predominately bronze . . . probably struck on a bronze planchet.

The coin is rimless with a diameter measurement of .807, as compared to a regular uncirculated Jefferson at .836. The thickness is .057 against .100, and is only .001 thicker than an uncirculated Lincoln. Portions of the field, obverse and reverse, have a proof-like appearance. The mint mark "D" is well struck. All legend, obverse and reverse, very plain, with tops of letters "In God We Trust" and lower portions of "United States of America" clipped slightly.

D. P. Lyon, 413 N. 22nd, St. Joseph, Mo., will be pleased to supply further information.

When Two Mikes Get Together

Michael P. Carey, Los Angeles, Calif., exhibited a fine collection of ancients at the latest A.N.A. convention. During the convention, Mike noticed a man eyeing his exhibit very closely. The stranger would look at the exhibit a long time, wander off and then return for another look. Finally he asked who the owner was and was directed to Mike. The stranger asked if the collection was for sale and, if so, the price. Mike told him and wondered where he had seen the man before.

The next day the stranger returned with the agreed amount of money. As Mike says, "scraped the varnish off one another," and Mike discovered the buyer was none other than Mike Powills, a former neighbor in Chicago whom Mike Carey had started collecting coins over 35 years ago. The next day the first Mike learned his collection won third award in the ancients and he told the second Mike the award was his. By this time the medal is in Mike Powill's hands and will be most highly valued, not alone because it is an A.N.A. medal, but because it came from a mighty big man. The annual fall convention of Penn-Ohio will be held at the Webster Hall Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., November 14-16. For details, communicate with Ray Byrne, General Chairman, Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs Convention, 701 N. Negley Ave., Pittsburgh 6, Pa. Since this is the twentieth anniversary of the group, an especially fine time is to be expected.

Newark Coin Convention

September 15 saw the first Newark Coin Convention, Newark, N. J., in the Y.M.-Y.W.C.A. building. Thirty-five cases of numismatic items were on exhibition along with 14 frames of paper money and four frames of Russian coins. Exhibit awards, in 10 classes, were bronze medals and went to the following: William Wild, U. S. half cents and cents; Harold Schornstein, U. S. paper money since 1862; Sally S. Wait, Colonial and state paper money; Victor Melnechuck, foreign coins since 1500 A.D.; Michael Granis, ancient coins before 1500 A.D.; J. A. Brown, most original or unusual; Michael Granis, odd and curious; J. A. Brown, Confederate and southern states bills; Sally Wait, broken bank notes; Camden County Coin Club, U. S. coins. Newark museum arranged a special display of part of the Frank Liveright collection. The bourse consisted of 22 dealers.

Sede Vacante

The death of Pope Pius XII brings to mind a possibility which may occur in the Vatican coinage, i.e., during the period until the naming of the papal successor, any coins struck will bear the Latin phrase Sede Vacante. The last time this inscription appeared on the Papal coinage was in 1939, between the death of Pope Pius XI and the election of Pope Pius XII.

You Can Still Buy A.N.A. Exhibit Cases

There remain with the contracting sheet metal firm some of the A.N.A. exhibit cases as offered for sale by subscription in The Numismatist (March, p. 355; April, p. 485; June, p. 716). These over-run cases are available at the advertised prices. Send orders and remittances to M. Vernon Sheldon, 451 Wrightwood Ave., Chicago 14, Ill.

Whitman, Ford Acquire Raymond Line

Complete rights to several numismatic works originally published by Wayne Raymond have been acquired separately by Whitman Publishing Co., Racine, Wis. and John J. Ford, Jr., New York City, according to an announcement by Mrs. Raymond. Last month, after several weeks of negotiation coördinated through the good offices of Ford, Whitman purchased for an undisclosed figure the rights to Raymond's Spanish American Gold Coins, Gold Coins of North and South America, Coins of the World, (both nineteenth and twentieth century editions), along with several less important publications on foreign coins.

Richard S. Yeoman of the Whitman Publishing Co. expressed the hope that the fine work pioneered by Wayne Raymond in the foreign series can now be carried on and that "We can give the Raymond name full credit while enlarging the scope and distribution of popular foreign numismatic literature in this country." Whitman Publishing Co. expects to add materially to its line of coin publications.

Earlier this year, rights to the Standard Catalogue of U.S. Coins and other Raymond publications in the American and Canadian fields were obtained by Ford. It is understood that the Standard Catalogue will continue to be published as a book for the advanced collector, and that in time it will be supplemented by a series of specialized catalogs covering the entire U.S. field from regular mint series to medals. Ford also intends to publish a work on Canadian numismatics for the advanced collector.

membership of the Association and which have made it great and which have made it possible for it to attain its objectives. The A.N.A. gained much by the privilege of his service to us and has lost much by his passing to his well deserved rest and reward. — LEWIS M. REAGAN, Secretary

• • •

In 1926 I met Burton Saxton for the first time at Sioux City, Iowa. He was then in the insurance business and, as I later learned, an enthusiastic numismatist. During his years as a member of our Association, Burton contributed much to the hobby of numismatics. He was a gentleman of unquestioned integrity. In his passing we have lost a good man. The American Numismatic Association is richer for the heritage left by Burton Saxton. — LOYD GETTYS, A.N.A. Past President

• • •

The loss of Burton H. Saxton will be deeply felt by our club. I found him to be a real gentleman, ever willing to give information if asked. — THEO. F. POKORNEY, President Chicago Coin Club

• • •

One of Burton Saxton's goals was the firm establishment of a sound grading system for the buying and selling of coins. His watchfulness and care have brought about the high quality of advertisements carried in The Numismatist. His leadership in this field will be missed — C. C. SHROYER, A.N.A. Governor

• • •

It would seem that all of us in the American Numismatic Association may inherit from Burton Saxton his dedication to and quiet diplomatic manner of handling a job assignment. This admirable faculty was a part of his life. — M. VERNON SHELDON, A.N.A. Past President

• • •

The death of Burton Saxton leaves all of us the poorer, for his helpfulness, gentle spirit and pride of workmanship were characteristics much needed in our world of today. — COL. JAMES W. CURTIS, A.N.A. Governor

• • •

At the Los Angeles A.N.A. convention, I received the honor of appointment by the Executive Committee to serve as Assistant Advertising Manager of The Numismatist. It was suggested that, although I have an advertising background, it would be advisable to plan a visit with Burton Saxton in Cedar Rapids, to become acquainted with the operations of his office and to relieve him of part of his responsibilities. The amount of work in this office has increased materially during the past several years. Burton's illness and subsequent death came as a shock to all who knew him. I only knew him slightly, but I admired him greatly. Many letters I have received from advertisers since assuming office have expressed deep sorrow and feeling. I hope that some day I may gain the esteem, admiration and respect he enjoyed and deserved, and that I may be able to conduct the advertising affairs of The Numismatist in the same fair and gentlemanly manner. — S. W. FREEMAN, Acting Advertising Manager of The Numismatist

• • •

My first official contact with Burton H. Saxton, whom I had known casually for several years, came with my appointment as assistant to the late Editor of The Numismatist, Stuart Mosher. My status from the first was as Acting Editor, since Stuart was too ill to be able to help me and I was forced to work from scratch. From time to time in those early days, and many days since, I frequently leaned on Burton for advice and suggestions. Never once did he fail me, nor was there ever a moment when we did not have a close and friendly coöperation. From this a personal friendship developed between him, Jeannie and me. We feel his loss very keenly. — ELSTON G. BRADFELD, Editor of The Numismatist

• • •

Words cannot express my feelings for the loss of Burton Saxton, a dear friend whom I have known, respected and admired for over 20 years. Our annual reunions at A.N.A. conventions for lunch or dinner have been customary for 16 years. Our lunch date for Friday, August 15, was broken, however.

The Farran Zerbe Memorial Award Committee, reviewing candidates for the 1958 honor, selected Burton Saxton as the recipient "for outstanding, devoted and distinguished service to the American Numismatic Association and to numismatics." I, as founder of the award, was specially delighted that he had been chosen and I looked forward to seeing him at the official presentation at the Friday, August 15, business session. This date, also, was broken.

We were destined, however, to keep a Friday date after all. Early that morning I relieved the General Secretary and the Editor who had spent the night with Burton following his heart attack. The morning's report to the doctor was such that he ordered hospitalization. I rode in the ambulance with Burton and at one point I referred to his watch, saying, "If you happen to be assigned to a room by yourself, don't let it worry you. As long as you wind your watch regularly, and hear its tick, tick, tick, you will know you are not alone."

No, you'll never be alone, Burton. Hosts of friends, many unknown to you, will cherish your memory always. — LOUIS S. WERNER, A.N.A. Sergeant-at-Arms

• • •

The passing of Burton H. Saxton in Los Angeles is indeed a very great loss to the American Numismatic Association. To his many friends across the Nation and in other lands he will always be remembered for his friendly smile and ready handshake. He will be greatly missed at our A.N.A. and regional conventions. It was a real pleasure to have known and been associated with this fine gentleman. — ARTHUR SIPE, A.N.A. Governor

• • •

It was with great sorrow that I received the news of the death of our colleague, Burton H. Saxton. Burton was a member of the American Numismatic Association for more than half a century and during that period his services to the Association were many and their value cannot be measured by ordinary standards. When called upon, Burton was always ready with words of counsel and friendly advice. And when the going was hard, he could be relied on to put his shoulder to the wheel and help us over the rough spot. My heart aches. I have lost a friend. — P. K. ANDERSON, A.N.A. Governor

With the passing of Burton Saxton the science of numismatics has lost one of its greatest ambassadors. Humble, sincere, beloved by all who ever came in contact with him, he lived a life in keeping with the highest of our ideals. His personality became a part of every meeting and conference that he attended.

His numismatic knowledge was very broad but as would be expected from a man of his extensive reading and culture, his main interests were in the historic field, never neglecting considerations of artistic beauty.

We will always remember his many exhibits at conventions which were invariably beautifully and completely presented.

His unique contributions to our Association in his work for The Numismatist will be a lasting monument to his memory. Well do I remember the emergency that led to our appeal that he enter the official family of our Association and his kindly, almost immediate response in the affirmative at considerable inconvenience to himself in his acceptance.

His sudden passing at the home of one of his closest numismatic friends, brings sadness to us all. Above all else we will best remember him as a most capable executive and distinguished numismatist, who beyond everything else lived a life of profound friendship with his fellowman. — DOUGLAS FERGUSON, A.N.A. Past President

I am deeply grieved to learn of Burton's passing. His counsel and advice the last 10 years have been beyond words of thanks to express. I shall miss him very greatly. — DR. F. STEVENS EPPS, CSNS Secretary-Treasurer

• • •

It was, indeed, always a pleasure to contact Burton Saxton, scholarly numismatist and gentleman, on many occasions, but I shall treasure mostly a closer association with him during the final days of his life. — JACK W. OGILVIE, A.N.A. Historian

• • •

News of the untimely passing of Burton H. Saxton came as a distinct shock that will be shared by his many, many friends throughout the world. He was the sort of a man you were proud to call a friend. — V. LEON BELT, A.N.A. Past President

• • •

Burton Saxton was a gentleman of the old school, and one who had a strong influence on the standards and ethics of numismatics. — RICHARD S. YEOMAN, former A.N.A. Governor

• • •

We have all lost a dear friend in the death of Burton H. Saxton. He will always be remembered by Blanche and me as a most gracious gentleman and a very faithful servant to our Association. — HAROLD R. KLEIN, A.N.A. Treasurer

• • •

The club was overwhelmed with grief upon hearing of the death of Burton H. Saxton. One minute of silence was observed in respect and sorrow. — ROBERT WIENER, Southern Hub Coin Club Secretary

• • •

The passing of Burton Saxton will be felt by all numismatists. He will be missed by all who had the pleasure of knowing him. — MICHAEL KOLMAN, JR.

White gold is pure gold whitened and hardened by adding nickel.

Nickel Production Increases — At the beginning of this century, the world's entire production of nickel amounted to only about 20,000,000 pounds annually. In 1957, the free world alone produced approximately 490,000,000 pounds.

Eight Precious Metals — The precious or noble metals are so defined because of their beauty, excellent physical properties and resistance to corrosion and oxidation. They are platinum, palladium, rhodium, ruthenium, iridium, osmium, gold and silver.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARIAN

By

JOHN J. GABARRON, LM 279

A.N.A. convention time has come and gone. I met many new friends, renewed old acquaintances and had a wonderful time visiting places of interest with my son John, Jr.

The backlog of book orders accumulated during the convention have been shipped and many new books and library materials are being shelved. A supplement to the library catalog will be printed later this fall with all books that have been added since July, 1957.

I again ask members who have not received books they have ordered to be patient. Some borrowers do not return the books on time so we are behind on some popular books.

I wish to thank the following for donations to the library: Sol Kaplan, Joseph Hirsh, Ray Larson, A. G. Pilmer, R. A. Wilson, Q. David Bowers, Gary Krug, Raul Gurdian, Louis Kroeger, the South Australian Numismatic Society and the Portuguese Numismatic Society.

Please read the instructions on the front and back cover of the Library Catalog before you order. Also include your membership number and print name and address clearly. Many orders are not filled because I cannot read the name or make out the address.

Club News

The assistance of all clubs is earnestly solicited to see that club news items intended for publication in this section conform to the following:

1. Please send club news stories of general interest only.
2. Typewrite and double space all contributions. Send in originals only, not carbon copies.
3. Please do not submit detailed club minutes or reports for publication.
4. The shorter the news item, the better its chance of being printed as written. Brevity is one of the marks of good writing.
5. The news paragraphs printed below may be used as general guides for style.
6. Deadline is the fourth of the month preceding the date of issue.

— The Editor

The Burlington (Iowa) Coin Club's fall public auction is November 18, 7:30 p.m., Farmers and Merchants Bank, Third and Jefferson Sts., Burlington. Dealers and collectors are welcome.

The first bourse sponsored by the Liberty Bell Coin Club of Philadelphia will take place November 6 at the Feltonville Recreation Center, Wyoming Ave. and Ella St. starting at 6 p.m. Visitors are most welcome. Club President Pat Vassalluzzo has selected Don Perri and Ralph Siani Jr. as co-chairmen.

Arthur Edwards spoke on "Crown Coins of Russia" at the September 25 meeting of the Bay Cities Coin Club. His talk covered all rulers from Peter the Great to Nicholas II.

Oak Park Coin Club is holding its second annual All Day Fair at the Oak Park Arms Hotel, Oak Park, Ill. November 9. Co-chairmen are Salvatore Graziano and Donald G. Tritt. Four exhibit medals will be awarded.

Morris Klaif, last surviving charter member of the Brooklyn Coin Club, stated at the October 1 meeting of the club that the cultural aspects of coin collecting seems to have given away to money-making opportunism. He recommended a shift of emphasis back to the educational, artistic and scientific fields of numismatics. William Wild read a paper on the first United States Mint. Washington Masonic medals were placed on view by A. R. Feldman and a 1794 British trial piece in lead of the sovereign by Charles Hollander. A set of Italian 100 lire gold pieces and a set of Castorland tokens were exhibited by Michael MacDougall. Other exhibitors were O. L. Susskind, Emil Voigt, M. L. Kaplan, Saul Bellus, Michael Granis, J. A. Brown, Joe Berman, S. H. Kitzler, Vincent Nicoletti, Boris Wishy, Jack Feilerstein, Irving Vengrove, Tony Seibrow, Moe Weinschel, Melvin Hennisch, Charles Fuhr, Richard Hasselbusch, Philip Ribner, Marcel Stilton, Rocco Galletta, Frank Simons, H. S. Bernstein and Stanley Parow.

At the September meeting of the Oak Park Coin Club, the main order of business was a general discussion of plans for the Club's annual all-day affair. This year it will be held on November 9, in the Oak Park Arms Hotel. On display at the meeting were early U. S. bank notes and U. S. notes, with related engravings, postage stamps with related engravings, rare die proofs, Glenn Smedley; souvenir "lousy buck" brought back from the A.N.A. convention, Earl Salisbury; Civil War badge, showing a picture of troops in action, George Howe; 1958 A.N.A. convention medal, Fred Catalano; silver 25 year A.N.A. medal exhibited proudly by Salvatore Graziano; money of Siam, from ancient to modern times, including "bullet money," porcelain tokens, and modern coins of copper and silver, Harry Flower.

Santa Barbara (Calif.) Coin Club held its regular meeting September 15th in the Carrillo Hotel. The banquet has been set for November 22nd and a fine display will be shown at that time. The evening's exhibits included two very good reproductions of the San Francisco gold slugs of 1855; a plastic holder containing a 1937D three-legged buffalo nickel, and a normal nickel; another holder containing four Lincoln cents — 1909, 1909 VDB, 1909S and 1909S VDB; and an almost complete set of Canadian 50 cent pieces and quarters.

The New York Numismatic Club has formulated plans to make its fiftieth anniversary a memorable one. The meeting will be held Friday evening, December 12, 1958 at the New York University Club, 123 West 43rd Street, New York. Among the features of the celebration will be a guest speaker, a souvenir program and a menu varied enough to tempt all. Also available at the December meeting will be a commemorative medal, one and one-half inches in diameter and portraying President Vernon L. Brown, Curator of the Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum and the A.N.A. Collection and a member of the A.N.A. Board of Governors from 1940 to 1942 and from 1947 to 1950.

Friends of the club are invited to make their reservations for the dinner before December 1 by writing to Secretary David J. McClymont, c/o The Chase Manhattan Bank Money Museum, 1254 Avenue of the Americas, New York 20, N. Y. The Secretary will also accept orders for the medals, at the rate of $3.75 each for bronze specimens, and $8.75 each for silver, postpaid.

Northwest Coin Club met September 17. The club presented to Cretin High School of St. Paul 62 electrotypes of ancient Greek coins, which will be used for study in the ancient history classes at the school. These replicas are from the T. Donald Wallace collection. Some of the originals are in the British Museum. Brother J. Felix, F.S.C., principal at Cretin High, accepted the gift in behalf of the school. The 26 club members who exhibited for National Coin Week last April were awarded A.N.A. certificates for their efforts.

Kenneth W. Lee was the speaker at the 511th meeting of Pacific Coast Numismatic Society. His subject was "The Eagles on Our Coins and Currencies," starting with the 1794 dollar. He humorously depicted the age, appearance and condition of the eagle, down through the years, starting with a young bird which later developed into a strong robust one, to the shriveled up eagle on the present half dollar, apparently having reached a ripe old age.

The first annual exhibit, banquet and auction of the Evansville Coin Club will be held Saturday and Sunday, December 6-7, at the Vendome Hotel in Evansville, Ind. High point in the two-day meet will be an address by Rear Admiral O. H. Dodson, U.S.N. (Ret.), president of the American Numismatic Association. He will address the Saturday night banquet on "Adventures in Digging for Old Coins in Greece."

"Our club is proud and grateful in announcing that Admiral Dodson has accepted our invitation," said Dr. Charles F. Leich, president. "His attendance assures success to our venture. It also inspires us to create an exhibit, banquet and auction of such stature to warrant the attention of other than local numismatists."

Arrangements are being made for 50 exhibit cases for exhibitors. Anyone interested in exhibiting is invited to communicate with Dr. Leich, 124 S. E. First St., Evansville 8, for application form and rules.

Competitive exhibits for cup and plaque awards will be held. Entries are available to any coin club member. Among the exhibit judges will be Harry X Boosel, Central States Numismatic Socety president and Leo G. Terry, Indiana Numismatic Association president. Included in the prominent displays will be one from the Indiana Lincoln Foundation in celebration of the Lincoln Sesquicentennial.

On Sunday, December 7, at 2:00 P.M. an auction will be held with a minimum lot value of one dollar.

The club invites numismatists and other interested persons to participate in any or all of the events, the exhibits, the Saturday night banquet and the Sunday afternoon auction. Information and banquet tickets, for out of town persons, may be obtained from Dr. Leich at the above address.

SIXTEEN DAYS AFTER THE ARMISTICE WAS SIGNED

We started a vest pocket dealership in coins of the World War. On 27 November we celebrate our fortieth anniversary as a semi-professional numismatist with a special mail sale and a promise to all of a gift to every customer concomitant with his or her order.

Catalogs of the sale will be mailed to all who have made purchases during the last decade. There may be a few left for those who write. We make no promises.

Many things have happened in the forty years just past. The coin collecting fraternity has grown surprisingly and despite wars and depressions the values, esthetic and intrinsic, have risen unwaveringly.

We, too, have shown some growth despite our serious losses and now serve the dealer as well as the collector. The gift goes to dealers also.

Something new and unexpected will be added to your order, however small it may be, during our 40th anniversary celebration.

CONFEDERATE
MONEY

- An entirely new arrangement by types
- Ideal for beginner and type collector
- Describes and prices all major types of confederate states currency
- Invaluable to the advanced collector for background material
- Contains information not found in any other catalog of confederate paper money
- Over 70 illustrations

Whitman has published in complete book form Arlie R. Slabaugh's popular catalog, Confederate States Paper Money which recently appeared as a serial in the Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine. A type catalog of the paper money issued by the Confederate States during the Civil War 1861-1865, the book is handy "Redbook" size 5¼" x 7¾" bound in gold stamped, leatherlike, soil resistant, flexible cover. 48 pages. Newly revised and enlarged, it is complete with latest average valuations for each note.

JOHNSON'S APPROVAL SHIPMENTS

Hundreds of satisfied customers have found "Johnson's Approval Shipments" the easy, convenient way to build up their coin collections.

If you can make monthly payments of $10.00 or more, then we are in business. Just send me a list of the coins you need in any series: Half Cents to Gold coins, Paper Money, Foreign Silver Dollars, etc. Or a list of the coins you now have, if more convenient.

On receiving your list, I will send different coins on approval. You then return any you do not want to keep, and make payments of $10.00 or more a month on coins retained. As you make payments, I will send more coins.

You will find that "Johnson's Approval Shipments" bring you the best coin values you can get.

If you have no special series in mind, why not start on a TYPE SET of Commemorative Half Dollars? This is a beautiful collection, of interesting Half Dollars depicting important historical events. Due to increasing scarcity, these coins are going up in value all the time, and are a good investment in addition to being the most popular series in U. S. coins. I would like to send an album with your first shipment, so you can keep the coins protected from handling and in neat order.

Send me your list now, and your first approval shipment will come by return mail. Join the hundreds of collectors who are building up their collections with "Johnson's Approval Shipments."

Am breaking up nice collections of U. S. Silver Dollars, Half Dollars, Nickels, Foreign Silver Dollars, a choice collection of Canadian coins. Please send want list.

I WANT TO BUY — Commemorative Half Dollars and other nice coins or collections. I buy and sell on close margin, and you are assured of a fair deal whether buying or selling. Send me the coins you want to sell, by registered mail or railway express. I will look them over and send you my best offer and check, then will hold coins for your reply. If no deal, I will return coins and no harm done.

You Were Lucky

if you purchased the

at its original price of thirty-five cents! Thousands have been sold at that price, but we can no longer maintain that price.

Rising production costs make it necessary to increase the price to

50c

AND IT IS A BARGAIN AT THAT PRICE!

THE MERIT is a 4-page book that lies flat when open! 7½ inches wide, 5¼ inches deep, it has a deep green cover with bright silver imprint. Each coin slot is identified . . . and there is NO gum backing!

OFFICIAL SILVER MEDALLION
COMMEMORATING THE 10th ANNIVERSARY OF THE
STATE OF ISRAEL
1948 - 1958

The words JUDAEA CAPTA (captive Judea) were stamped by the Romans on their victory coins together with a picture of a fettered Jew and a grief-stricken Jewess, who bemoan the destruction of the Temple of Jerusalem. The letters SC (senatus consultu) indicate that the Senate was consulted by Emperor Vespasian before the coins were issued. The picture in the inside circle is a replica of the antique Roman coin. The outer circle has the hebraic inscription GALTA JEHUDA (Judea in Exile), the hebraic year TAL'A (70 A.D.) and chains as a symbol of servitude.

ISRAEL LIBERATA (liberated Israel) is on the other side of the medal above two erect Israelis. The woman holds a sheaf of corn and the man a hoe: symbols of the reconstruction of Israel. Under the palm tree, the symbol for Judea, the word JERUSALEM has been stamped in hebraic letters. On the outer circle one observes the hebraic words ASSOR L'HERUT ISRAEL (the decennium of the liberation of Israel) and the Jewish date of the year TASHYAH (5718) for the jubilee year of the State of Israel: 1958, and ten six-pointed stars, symbolizing the ten years of rewon independence. The edge of the medallion shows the inscription: "ISRAEL GOVERNMENT APPROVED ISSUE 1948-1958", between two seven-branched candelabra, taken from the official emblem of the 10th Anniversary Year.

PROOF SETS 1855 to 1915

This is the first time in over 25 years we have been privileged to offer a virtually complete set of proof coins in all denominations from the Half Cent to the Trade Dollar covering the years 1855 to 1915, inclusive.

This unusual collection comprises all the coins sold by the U. S. Mint as part of the yearly proof sets. It includes the very rare 1864 Small Motto 2¢ and 1867 With Rays 5¢.

It may be years before an opportunity to acquire a collection of this caliber and scope will be available again.

To be absolutely complete it lacks only the 1855 3¢ Silver; 1856, 1857 Half Dime; 1856 Half Dollar, 1864 "L" Cent and the 1884, 1885 Trade Dollar.

Think of It — Virtually complete proof sets from 1855-1915

is the bi-monthly publication of Empire Coin Company, Inc. Each issue contains priced coins from our large stock. Empire Topics #2, our last issue, contained items in all price ranges, from forty cents to over five thousand dollars. All series and denominations are represented in each issue, from half cents to territorial gold. Our last issue offered, in addition to the regular United States coins, an outstanding selection of colonial and state coins.

Priced offerings are only a part of Empire Topics. In each issue will be found current numismatic news and information, answers to numismatic questions, a coin quiz, details concerning new and unusual numismatic discoveries, and interesting articles. "Blundered Dies of Colonial and United States Coins" an article by Walter Breen about die errors is currently appearing serially.

Issue #3, now available, contains something new — a mail auction. And what an auction it is! The rare 1786 date under plow-beam New Jersey Cent, Proof half cents of 1835, 1842, and 1850, rolls of 1931-S and 1908-S cents, a 1796 half dollar, an 1836 50/00¢ error half dollar in Proof, silver dollars of 1794, 1838, 1839 and 1858, 1877 pattern Morgan half dollars in silver (5 different) plus unique and unlisted pattern coins, a Confederate States of America cent and a die trial of the unfinished 1849 $20 die are just a few of the outstanding items offered.

The subscription price to Empire Topics? The answer: there is none. The only requirement is your numismatic interest. If you are not already on our mailing list, send us a postcard. Empire Topics will be sent FREE as they are issued. Only one thing — please hurry. Our mail auction in issue #3 closes on November 26th. America's foremost collectors read and enjoy Empire Topics. Won't you join them?

PUBLICATION ANNOUNCEMENT

After five years of preparation, we announce with pride the publication of

"GOLD COINS OF THE WORLD"

Complete from 600 A.D. to 1958

An illustrated standard catalogue with valuations

by ROBERT FRIEDBERG

384 pages, cloth bound with dust jacket, more than 2700 illustrations, page size 8½" x 11"

PRICE: $15.00

WHAT MAKES "GOLD COINS OF THE WORLD" THE MOST IMPORTANT, THE MOST WANTED AND THE BEST COIN BOOK OF MODERN TIMES?

1. It is the only book ever published that treats the gold coinage of the world as an unified subject by itself — a fact that will be of great interest to libraries, banks, historians, economists and institutions of learning, as well as to thousands of coin collectors throughout the world.

2. That the mass of material available could be published in a single volume such as this, is in itself a major numismatic triumph. Many well-informed numismatists have said it was impossible, but availing himself of a unique and economical format, the author has presented the entire subject without sacrificing any vital information or the all-important illustrations.

3. There are more than 2700 illustrations embodied within the text — far more than have ever appeared in any coin book of comparable size. Naturally, illustrations of all types of United States gold coins have also been included.

4. Every gold coin struck in the world since about 600 A.D. has been listed and properly described as to its denomination, appearance and years of issue. In addition, a numismatic valuation has been given for all coins. (The highest valuation is $15,000.00.) The aim of the author has been to start at the approximate time when the coinage of antiquity ended and following the age of nomadic movements when the nations of the modern world began to evolve. Thus, the listings begin with the first truly distinctive gold coins of each locality.

5. Veritable multitudes of reference works have been consulted to gather the information necessary to make this volume both accurate and complete. It would require a library of several hundred books to duplicate the numismatic and historical information in this one volume.

6. The Appendix by itself would be worth the price of the whole book, containing as it does, tables full of gold information, much of it long needed by the world in the compact form here presented. One of the tables, several pages long, lists the principal gold coins of the world, their years of issue, their weight, their purity and their original exchange value in terms of U. S. gold Dollars.

7. For the benefit of overseas readers, the important Preface to this book has been translated into French, German, Italian and Spanish. These translations, which follow the English Preface, form an integral part of this book.

8. The author, Mr. Robert Friedberg, has been internationally known as a professional numismatist for twenty years and has been a student of world numismatics since boyhood. One of his other books "PAPER MONEY OF THE UNITED STATES" (by the same publishers) has long been used as the standard reference work on American currency.

9. In order to attain the maximum accuracy needed for so important a work as this, a group of contributors has assisted the author in various ways. These contributors, both American and European are numismatists of world wide renown and are acknowledged experts in their own fields. No other book on coins has ever enjoyed the benefit or prestige of such international collaboration.

"GOLD COINS OF THE WORLD" may be ordered from your local coin and stamp dealer, department store, or bookseller.

Dealers who wish to purchase this book for resale should write to us for our discount terms.

Fresh! New!

"Being acclaimed as the finest numismatic publication currently available."

THE NEW SECOND EDITION OF:

"A GUIDE TO COIN INVESTMENT"Price $3.00
(plus 25 cents for postage and handling)

Presenting an analysis of the growing area of numismatics — a book for the future based upon the lessons of the past and the coin trends of today. This book has been developed after much study by a group of government research scientists interested in coin collecting.

Particular attention has been given to an examination of the influence of a "recession" upon numismatics.

CONTENTS

- Trends in Coin Sales — some up, some down.
- Trends in Coin Prices — many are going up but a few down.
- Price Resistance — most dealers deny it but it exists.
- Coin Profits — A new problem coming
- The Coin Purchaser — He is undergoing a change.
- The New Market Tone.
- Canadian Coins — coming up strong.
- The Current Investment Picture
- Coin Notes From Across the U.S.

JUST ONE MAN'S OPINION

The Carson City Dollars are the most underpriced series of all coins minted.

All one has to do is check the number minted of each year and you will see that there will never be enough to supply our five (5) million or more (estimate) collectors.

Take the 1885 with only 228,000 minted. This would be one for about every 21 collectors.

Second comes the 1881 with only 296,000 and so on.

I have a few sets of the 1880 through 1885 complete in Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated. For set of six (6)$21.95

Below are my prices for single coins . . . all Brilliant Uncirculated:

1878 CC. Proof Surface . . . $ 6.00	1885 CC. Brill. Unc. . . . $ 5.00
1879 CC. Proof Surface . . . 20.00	1885 CC. Proof Surface . . . 7.00
1880 CC. Brill. Unc. 6.00	1889 CC. Brill. Unc. 90.00
1881 CC. Brill. Unc. 5.00	1890 CC. Proof Surface . . . 6.00
1882 CC. Proof Surface . . . 5.50	1890 CC. Brill. Unc. 4.50
1882 CC. Brill. Unc. 4.00	1891 CC. Brill. Unc. 4.50
1883 CC. Brill. Unc. 4.00	1892 CC. Brill. Unc. 5.50
1884 CC. Brill. Unc. 4.00

Please keep in mind that I guarantee every dollar I sell to be Strictly Brilliant Uncirculated.

Money back guarantee plus return postage if not pleased.

My second offering for this month is, in my opinion, a small set with a future. The War Time silver Nickel consisting of 11 coins minted 1942 to 1945 (see Red Book). This set in Brilliant Uncirculated is beautiful and also underpriced in this booming coin market. My price for the complete set is $4.50.

The 1943-D is, of course, in this set, and this is one that I compare in value to the 1942-D which is selling today for $4.50 each.

Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded if returned within 5 days of receipt. Postage and insurance extra on all orders. In the market to buy collections small or large. Send us your offers with prices wanted in first letter. Want Lists also solicited and given our prompt and courteous attention.

We hope to see you at the Penn-Ohio Fall Convention which will be held at the Webster Hall in Pittsburgh, Nov. 14-15-16th. Also at the Michigan State Convention, which will be held in Detroit at the Detroit Leland Hotel on Nov. 21-22-23rd. As we have the auction for the Michigan sale, those who are interested in receiving a catalogue may write to us. A last minute reminder to mail in your bids immediately.

The Spring Convention of the Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs will be held at the Tudor Arms Hotel, in downtown Cleveland on May 15, 16, 17th, 1959. We will conduct an outstanding three-day auction. If you have been contemplating on placing your collection up for auction there is an opening for a few good collections. Remember it takes at least four months prior to the date of an auction to set up a good catalogue. Do not wait, but contact us now. Our many years of expert experience in handling local and regional sales, plus the 1954 and 1957 A.N.A. Convention auctions, are proven facts as to the success of our past sales. For terms and particulars, please write.

You are cordially invited to visit us here or at our downtown store, which is located in the heart of Cleveland, 37 The Arcade, 401 Euclid Avenue.

UNITED STATES SILVER DOLLARS — ALL UNCIRCULATED

These are today's best buys when all other coins are very high in price. Many are far older and far rarer than Lincoln Cents, but still selling Unc. for double face. What Lincoln Cents can you buy for double face, or any other coin for that matter. Better buy while the price is still low. These have light mars, as all dollars seem to, but are all carefully selected copies. Maybe a few Cents higher, but worth it.

Useful for cleaning all kinds of coins, but particularly adapted to cleaning coins of copper or nickel.

EASY TO USE AND ECONOMICAL!
FAST ACTION — IT ACTUALLY CLEANS IN SECONDS!

Does not add shine, but brings out natural color, including original brilliance if it is still there under tarnish or coating. Dull or dark uncirculated coins become brilliant uncirculated coins in seconds.

This result of years of experiment can be safely used on valuable coins to improve their appearance and increase their value.

On sale in many leading stores in 4-oz. bottles, with full directions, at $1.00.

If your dealer does not yet have it, send us $1.00 for 3-oz. bottle (enough to clean hundreds of coins) carefully packed and postpaid to any address in the United States or Canada.

BRILLIANT INSTANTLY

Safe for Proof Coins

Customers Comments:

"I have been in the coin business for 22 years, and have used all types of coin cleaner on the market. I find that BRILLIANTIZE is one of the best, if not the best coin cleaner on the market today. I have also talked to literally hundreds of coin collectors that have used Brilliantize." — Kentucky

BRILLIANTIZE is sold in kits containing a booklet of instructions, applicators and two bottles of chemicals called BRILLIANTIZE number one and BRILLIANTIZE number two. BRILLIANTIZE number one makes coins brilliant instantly.

BRILLIANTIZE number two preserves this brilliancy. It also cleans badly tarnished and spotted coins.

MODERN FOREIGN COINS

The pioneering stage is over in foreign coins, with attractive catalogs available, many dealers with good stocks, and more and more collectors switching over to the field where there is more FUN.

Some start with older issues and work toward the present. Others start with new and recent issues and work backward in their specialty.

No matter where you start, the START is the thing, and the sooner you start, the sooner you can begin to enjoy yourself in the fascinating field of foreign coins.

My large price lists of MODERN FOREIGN COINS will help you to start right!

IDLE FOREIGN COINS?

Few collectors are numismatic monogamists. It's a rare man who settles down with one specialty all his collecting life. When a series no longer holds your interest, it's worth thinking of converting it to cash and applying the money to a more active specialty. If you have any idle foreign coins - crowns, scarce minor, tokens, medals - let me give you an estimate. Foreign numismatic material is my specialty. I have the experience and the clientele to market it to best advantage. And if you collect foreign coins, you'll probably find something useful in my monthly price lists.
